FEATURED INSTRUCTORS

Joshua Arnold, NCCE

Director of Operations, National Institute for Jail Operations

Joshua Arnold has wealth of knowledge and extensive experience in corrections, having worked in the field for over 23 years. In 2020, he retired as a Captain at the Pima County Sheriff's Department (AZ). While working with NIJO, Joshua has been the lead inspector for several facility inspections seeking NIJO Accreditation. He has trained on topics of code of conduct, ethics, leadership, use of force, searches, duty to protect and classification at local and regional NIJO seminars and at JAILCON Corrections Training Conferences. Joshua is also a popular instructor in NIJO's online training platform, DACOTA. Mr. Arnold is a National Certified Corrections Executive and a graduate of the National Jail Leadership Command Academy and Northwest University's Police Staff and Command Academy.

Rachel Love

Partner, Struck Love Bojanowski & Acedo, PLLC

Rachel focuses her practice on defense of America's corrections departments, jail systems, and law enforcement agencies and their officers in civil rights litigation, including defense of 42 U.S.C. § 1983, Bivens and tort actions, class actions, and complex multi-party litigation matters filed in jurisdictions across the United States. Rachel is respected for specialized defense of excessive force, inmate assault/homicide, sexual assault, inmate suicide, inmate disturbance response, STG/gang management, maximum custody management, classification, conditions of confinement, deliberate indifference to medical needs, retaliation, religious rights, First Amendment challenges, publications, catastrophic injury, and wrongful death claims filed by inmates and inmate advocacy groups.

Sean Stewart, NCCE

Expert Witness, Stewart Criminal Justice Consulting, LLC

Sean Stewart was hired with the Pima County Sheriff's Department in September 1992. He was promoted to Sergeant in December 1997 and ultimately Captain in June 2006. Sean has commanded Security Services Section, the Emergency Response Team, Administrative Segregation Housing Units, General Population Units, Judicial Security, Intake and Identification Unit and the Transportation Unit. He retired from the Pima County Sheriff's Department on January 1, 2021. Sean is qualified as a national corrections expert and has provided "Expert Witness" assistance to Jails and Prisons across the country who found themselves facing inmate-filed litigation.
